Declaration date is the date on which a Fund announces an upcoming dividend payment.

Record Date is the date on which a Fund reviews its books to determine its "shareholders of record." Investors listed as shareholders of record on this date will receive the Fund's dividend payment.

Ex-dividend date is the day on which all shares bought and sold no longer come attached with the right to receive the most recently declared dividend.

Payable date is the date on which a Fund pays a dividend to its shareholders of record.

There is no guarantee that the stocks in the portfolio will continue to declare dividends and if they do, that they will remain at current levels or increase over time.

Disclosure related to the State Street Institutional Liquid Reserves Fund: You could lose money by investing in the Fund. Because the share price of the Fund is expected to fluctuate, when you sell your shares they may be worth more or less than what you originally paid for them. The Fund may impose a fee upon the sale of your shares or may temporarily suspend your ability to sell shares if the Fund's liquidity falls below required minimums because of market conditions or other factors. An investment in the Fund is not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other government agency. The Fund's sponsor has no legal obligation to provide financial support to the Fund, and you should not expect that the sponsor will provide financial support to the Fund at any time.

Disclosure related to State Street Institutional U.S. Government Money Market Fund, State Street Institutional Treasury Money Market Fund, and State Street Institutional Treasury Plus Money Market Fund: An investment in a money market fund is not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or another governmental agency. Although a money market fund seeks to preserve the value of your investment at $1.00 per share, it is possible to lose money by investing in a money market fund.
